The Art of Japanese Gift-Wrapping

Take the Sting Out Of Flushed Skin

Keeping the flu bug from your family may be easier with the help of a topical anesthetic that makes injections easier to take.

1. Directly on the skin, cooling and numbing the area, then swab the targeted area with antiseptic and anesthetic, before getting a flu shot.
2. Ask your doctor about Gebauer's Erythrodol Chloride, before getting a flu shot.

One of the greatest pains to human nature is the pain of a new idea.

Plaats are used in Japanese gift-wrapping to symbolize the significance of the occasion.

1. Wrap the box by folding the sheet “back and forth” along the longest edge, making each creased section approximately ½-inch wider than the crease before.
2. Pleat the paper by folding the sheet “back and forth” along the longest edge, making each creased section approximately ½-inch wider than the crease before.
3. From the same roll of wrapping paper, cut a piece of paper that’s roughly twice the size of what you needed to wrap the gift.
