Printing Programs Santa's Elves Write Home About

(NAPSA)—Remember what a greeting card, printed by your home computer looked like in 1984 or what program you likely used to create it? You may not remember sitting at an Apple IIe with your floppy disk of The Print Shop in hand, but like many of us, that was the way you created printed projects at that time. If you wanted to easily create greeting cards to share with friends and family, or banners or posters to hang, the options were very limited and the print quality, using a dot matrix printer, left a lot to be desired, especially given today's standards.

Making greeting cards, banners and posters was easy then, but is even easier now. The Print Shop, now celebrating over 21 years of excellence in the desktop publishing arena, still offers users the ease of use they have come to expect, but also provides plenty of flexibility, new project types and the latest technology and quality.

The Print Shop is perfect for any holiday season. The Print Shop Deluxe 21 makes holiday gift and card giving easy and affordable. Now, users can eliminate the need to purchase store-bought cards or calendars by creating pieces with a personal touch to share with loved ones. The latest version of The Print Shop provides advanced photo editing that will take your photos to a whole new level. Plus, with support for borderless printing, every project will be perfect and personalized to you.
